STRAND #3

USING YOUR RTI MODEL TO DIFFERENTIATE AND SUPPORT THE ELA COMMON CORE LEARNING STANDARDS

Description: Across New York State, schools are working to implement the ELA Common Core Learning Standards (CCLS). At the same time, schools are required to have established a prevention model commonly known as Response to Intervention (RtI) to meet the literacy needs of students in K – 4 who struggle to meet grade level expectations. This webinar strand is designed to help school personnel understand how their RtI framework can support the teaching and learning of CCLS in literacy. The webinar series will present practical approaches for creating a seamless integration of RtI and CCLS. Attention will be devoted to helping classroom teachers and reading specialists work collaboratively to meet the needs of children who require something extra in order to achieve the expectations established by the CCLS for ELA.

Intended Audience: Using Your RtI Model to Differentiate and Support the ELA CCLS is intended for school personnel who are directly responsible for implementing and/or supporting core instruction and supplementary intervention within an RtI model.

Presenter: Dr. Katherine Dougherty Stahl, New York University, Clinical Associate Professor of Literacy
